

Luana Liberman - Gobbi
2017-2018 Cultural Awareness
Director

West Coast University – Los Angeles
Graduation: June 2018

Hello CNSA Constituents,

My name is Luana Liberman-Gobbi. As a 3rd year student at West Coast University (WCU), I am humbled and honored to be the new 2017-2018 CNSA State Board Cultural Awareness Director.

I have been a pediatric LVN since 2009 and am soon to receive my RN-BSN in the upcoming year. Throughout my career both professionally and academically, I have had the pleasure and honor of being involved and working for great organizations like Project Angle Food in Hollywood, UCLA nursing volunteer program at Ronald Reagan Medical Center, and as West Coast University's Legislative Director. These experiences have provided me with a well-rounded foundation of leadership that I will apply to the upcoming year.

Being of mixed race and religion I feel passionate in the advocacy and awareness of all our different cultures. As the first Cultural Awareness Director, I will further develop the platform previous committee chairs have established and will continue to help fellow nurses in their development of cultural sensitivity awareness.

GOALS 2017-2018:

- Create a committee that connects members from CNSA chapters that are invested in the promotion of cultural awareness.
- Promote nursing considerations for different cultures through social media.
- Promote, enhance, and expand the use of multi lingual medical terminology by providing public resources.
- Assist with the development of a bi-monthly menu of healthy cultural accepted diets.
